THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SUN

Ozone Layer

1. Oxygen molecules are photolyzed.
2. Ozone and oxygen atoms are continuously being interconverted as solar UV breaks ozone and the oxygen atoms reacts with another oxygen molecule
3. Ozone is lost by a reaction of the oxygen atom or the ozone molecule with each other, or some other trace gas such as chlorine

Preserve Life

- The plant feeds on the sun's light through the leaves and water through the roots.
- In return, the plant is able to absorb Carbon Dioxide and in the process, releases oxygen.
- The plants use light to produce food for humans and animals through the process called photosynthesis.

If There Was No Sun

- The Sun's gravity keeps the planets in orbit in the Solar System.
- The Earth may be floating endlessly in space.
- The Sun provides the light and heat every living organism needs to exist.
